

Movie sets and Backdrops

Grand format printing has created graphic opportunities previously beyond our comprehension.

Flash Photobition has created an enviable reputation built upon its quality development of television, film and theatre sets and promotional material. We have the capacity to print images onto many flexible materials, of virtually any size, that can be used for a variety of applications.

Having serviced the entertainment industry for many years, Flash Photobition understands the tight deadlines and complicated logistics particular to the industry. Because of this we provide the advantage of having all production and installation covered in-house. Our team of consultants and graphics specialists will work with you to produce a visual solution that will deliver on your objectives.
